APOLLO PROGRAM

All the libraries in Clayton County feature a system called the Apollo program that makes it easier for library patrons to access material. Patrons can easily reserve a book, search for materials by title or author, renew books from their home computer or mobile device and receive reminders on their mobile phone that a book is due back to the library. The Apollo program also allows patrons to easily download books to an E-reader. Additionally, the libraries of Clayton County participate in a state-wide program known as Open Access, which allows any valid library card to be used in libraries across Iowa.

High speed internet is provided by Alpine Communications to the following communities: Clayton, Clayton Center, Elkader, Elkport, Garber, Giard, Garnavillo, Guttenberg, Littleport, Mederville, Millville, & Osterdock; and by NEIT (Northeast Iowa Telephone Co.) to the following communities: Froelich, Farmersburg, Gunder, Luana & Monona.

NOTE: All of these libraries have free wireless access.
